

Claim 3 (new): The changeable signage system of claim 2, wherein said character locking means comprises a pair of character locking strips which cooperate with said upper character holding track, said plurality of characters and said signboard to prevent unauthorized removal of said characters from said upper and lower character holding tracks.

Claim 4 (new): The changeable signage system of claim 2, wherein said character locking means comprises a character locking/viewing panel of optically transparent construction which cooperates with said upper and lower character holding tracks, said plurality of characters, and said signboard to prevent unauthorized removal of said characters from said upper and lower character holding tracks.